"It's interesting that the Washington Post is applauding the Soviet media for its new openness, it willingness to expose Stalin's mass murders, while impugning my project before the American people can assess it," says Stone. "It's hypocritcal, a double standard, ironic at best."

The L.A. Times
Monday, June 24, 1991